Narissa Whitelaw, DO was born and raised in the Phoenix area. She moved to Tucson to attend the University of Arizona for her undergraduate studies. After graduating she moved to Pennsylvania to attend medical school. She received her Doctor of Osteopathic Medicine degree from Lake Erie College of Osteopathic Medicine. Dr. Whitelaw then completed a Family Medicine residency at Conemaugh Memorial Medical Center in Johnstown, Pennsylvania.

After completing her training she moved back to sunny Arizona and has been practicing Family Medicine in Tucson since then.

Dr. Whitelaw is board certified in Family Medicine. She follows the osteopathic philosophy of treating the whole person. She treats families from kids to geriatrics with special interests in preventative medicine, women's health, and osteopathic manipulative treatment (OMT). In her free time she enjoys traveling, hiking, cycling, and spending time with her family.
